Tacit Solutions LCC Redesigns Company Web Site

Redlands, CA -- 01 MARCH 2011 -- Tacit Solutions, LLC has completely redesigned its company web site and is now available for clients needing sales and marketing business solutions when they have urgent or complex business problems they cannot solve alone. Tacit Solutions, LCC is a Southern California based management consulting firm focused exclusively on supporting small to medium-size businesses throughout the United States involved in the aerospace, commercial, industrial, medical, military and retail market space.

According to Richard Guy, President of Tacit Solutions, LLC, "we have fully redesigned our web content to create easier accessibility of information about our new services available to our customer base. New web content and downloadable white papers are available to clients needing assistance for defining their trade show strategies; selecting and hiring of manufacturer's sales representatives; outsourcing their out-bound lead generation; or support for clients needing quick turn-around business solutions for legacy products. We can also provide support on a long-term basis or just simply fill the gaps for direct sales or marketing functions as needed for new start-up companies".

"When customers sign-up for our free white paper service on our site " Richard Guy said, "we will keep them informed as each future Tacit white paper is released so that they can go to our site and download them promptly". According to the company, one of the first publications released this year addresses getting the biggest Return-on-Investment (ROI) with your allocated trade show funding. Additionally, a user guide entitled "Building Your Roadmap for Hiring the Exceptional Sales Rep Firm" will be made available later this year and you will be notified in advance prior to release for those who sign up on the company site at www.tacit-sol.com now.
